Betas Enlarge Club Treasury

Did you ever wonder about the kit some of the Beta Tri-Hi-Y girls were carrying around? Well, the explanation is simple. The club decided to make some money by selling personalized stationery. Dorothy Jean Wiedeman was put in charge of the sales.

So far, the results have been satisfactory. Approximately twenty-five orders have been placed. The club gets a 30% profit on each sale.

Students Voice Opinions At Teachers Meeting

Betty Shirer Leads Discussion

(By Lois Yake)

A committee of four high school pupils attended a recent meeting of the Teachers' Association, where they discussed with the teachers, student opinion concerning the school system, and summarized the results of letters written to the Association by high school students.

Several months ago the English teachers of the high school, including the ninth grade, at the request of the program committee of the Teachers' Association, gave their pupils an opportunity to answer questions and give their opinion on subjects such as the following:

What has the school done for you?

What would you like an opportunity to do in addition to your present activities?

In what respects has the school failed you?

Extra-curricular activities.

The number of subjects one should carry.

A total of forty letters were handed in, 15 from the seniors, 1 from the junior class, 9 from the sophomore class, and 15 from the ninth-graders.

Old Clothes Year

You think you must have that new dress or that new hat, and you couldn't possibly go anywhere with those half-soled shoes. Why, imagine the idea! You say it's impossible, but just stop to think about the poor and conquered peoples of Europe and Asia. They wear socks on their feet and think it a blessing; they wear an old relic for a dress and think it a miracle; they wear a blanket to cover their heads, and they thank God. Wear your old dresses! Wear your last year's bonnet! Wear those repaired shoes! Wear them proudly as if you were wearing a flag of patriotism. And what to do with the extra money? Buy War Bonds and Stamps and contribute to charitable organizations so that the war will be over and our own boys might come home soon.

—Theresa Wisniewski

Stamp Drive Ends April 30

On Tuesday, April 13, teachers in each home room read aloud an announcement from Superintendent Puff's office. This announcement dealt with conducting a war savings stamp sale.

The nation is asking from its citizens $13,000,000,000 during the period from April 12 to May 1. The schools are taking part in this drive so as to act as a publicity agent; that is, "to create an awareness of the situation in the minds of the people through the medium of the children in schools."

A student in each home room acts as treasurer, exchanging the money for stamps at the office.

Food For Victory

(By Lois Tallentire)

The boys and girls of Seven-one are eagerly awaiting actual work in their victory garden. An agreement was made last fall with Mr. Julius Adams, owner of the land, located on South Chestnut street. During the winter the sidewalk in front of the lot was kept clear of ice and snow by the boys and girls. In exchange, permission was given for the use of this land in the summer. Each garden will be ten feet by fourteen feet. Preparations have already been started and we're hoping for a plentiful harvest and loads of fun. Are you having a garden for Victory?

UNFILLED ALBUMS

In May of 1941 the War Savings Program was started. At that time we were not officially engaged in the present conflict, but nevertheless we were preparing for the inevitable. The bonds that were put on sale were called Defense Savings Bonds. Many people, old and young alike, started their defense savings books, vowing that instead of a sundae or a movie, they would spend their money for stamps to fill their books. Perhaps that worked two or three times, but then it seemed harder and harder to go without that sundae or movie. As a result, their albums had about a half page of stamps.

After Pearl Harbor we were jolted into the realization that we were at war. We got busy and filled several more pages of our albums and felt very patriotic. But then the patriotic instinct laxed in favor of our own selfish wants. A few more stamps were added to the books, but still we do not have enough to buy a bond. Let's get busy! Fill those books! and turn them into bonds.

—Elinor Merritt

A mashed potato has its lumps.
A garden has its weeds.
A roof, its leaks; a stairway, squeaks;
A berry has its seeds.
The grass has snakes.
A tooth has aches.
Banks, someone who absconds.
And America has people who
Don't buy their share of Bonds.

Schools At War

Etiquette is covered by the Albany Student War Council in rules for pupils to follow in promoting the war effort. On formal occasions "warsages," bouquets of paper flowers and War Stamps, are to replace corsages. Walking is urged on informal dates.

At Okanagan, Washington, students of the High School picked 100,000 boxes of apples to earn money to put into War Bonds and Stamps. Their 5-jeep goal for the year was reached in 7 weeks.

Chicago, 'Illinois' 400 public schools and junior colleges are supporting the War Savings program wholeheartedly. Pupils are investing heavily in War Bonds and Stamps and the schools' 13,000 teachers are participating 100 percent in pay-roll savings.

In Milwaukee, Wisconsin, the Custer High Seniors abandoned class rings in favor of War Stamps at the suggestion of their class president. The stamps will be delivered to the Seniors in a school ceremony in the spring.

Red Cross Will Give Beautiful Quilt

(By Sallyann Rowe)

Members of the Junior Red Cross are helping to sell chances on two quilts for the benefit of the Red Cross. These beautiful quilts were made by Mrs. Alice Coffman who has two sons in the service—one in Iceland and the other in Africa. For each chance a donation of only ten cents is asked, so let's all help in this worthy cause.

Beta Tri-Hi-Y Is "On the Beam"

Receives Thank-you Letter from Soldier in Australia

(By Ida Petrarca)

One of the activities of the Beta Tri-Hi-Y this winter was the mailing of Christmas gift boxes to relatives of club members who are in the armed forces. From time to time interesting thank you notes have been received to let the club know that their efforts were appreciated. Tillie Seese's cousin who is in Australia sent this V Letter:

Dear Girls,

Your Christmas package has caught up with me, and I want to thank you for the most pleasant surprise. Being in Australia and receiving Christmas packages in March is a funny set-up; however, it makes me very happy to find that your organization is "on the beam" like a real American society should be.

It may interest you to know that Joe E. Brown will be in person on our stage here at camp tomorrow night. Our special service office is getting the best entertainment available for the boys—good movies, bands, etc.

Thanks again and continue your fine work.

Sincerely yours,
James H. Myers

You and the Enemy

Most of the young people in high school find it rather easy to get a part time job and consequently boys and girls have more money in their possession than ever before. Young people are apt to spend money foolishly for things they could very well get along without. Do you want to help Uncle Sam with your earnings or help Hitler and Hirohito? By spending money for foolish and often harmful things you put a grin on Hirohito's face that will show all those buck teeth and a big broad smile on Hitler's face. To help Uncle Sam, however, and also help yourself you ought to consider it a duty to put that money into War Stamps and Bonds.

—Theresa Wisniewski

SENIOR SONG

(Music by Mrs. Eleanor Pryce, words by Lou Huntley)

We've known you now for years,
You Seniors free and gay
And we know that from now on
We shall miss you every day;
For the memory of this song
Will be ling'ring on at dawn.

But our dreams of long ago
Will be left when hope is low,
Through all the years when life seems long,
Then we'll think of this your song,
And we hope that all the way
You'll have thoughts of us each day.

Hold that Junior ! Pass that Junior !

(By Marjorie Bosworth)

"Oh, please tell me quick before I pass out with a heart attack! Please, Miss Sherbondy, did I or didn't I? Please tell me I'm going to be a senior, graduating in '44, not '45!"

This was just a remark made by a poor junior on that fateful day of March, 1943. That was the day of the English final exam.

The exam was on the whole text book, which has only 1070 pages. Now, since the textbook and exams are completed, the next thing to worry about is book reports. So you can easily see the juniors have some work ahead of them.

Time Marches On

(Richard Campbell)

Yes, time marches on and so another Hi-Y year comes to an end. At a recent meeting of the Hi-Y the following officers were elected: Richard Campbell, President; Jim Barr, Vice President; Don Bradley, Secretary, and Jerry Merritt, Treasurer.

Also at the meeting, our senior members Claude Nist, Albert Hemp, Jim Marth, Shorty Connors, Ralph Snowden, and Earl Anger received their graduating pins from club president, Claude Nist.

We want to take this time to thank Mr. Mimm, Mr. Grey, and the Y. M. C. A. for their help in completing the Hi-Y meeting room.

Do You Want To Lead A Band?

(By Marjorie Dick)

Do you want to lead a band? Well, you can do the next best thing! You may have the honor of conducting the Scottdale High School Choral Club, so the seniors of Choral Club were informed. Mustering all their courage and trying desperately to keep their poise, several seniors bravely marched forth. They gently tapped the stick and began waving their arms. If this produced no result they let out a yell and said, "Come on' gang." This usually produced an effect. And these seniors all came through with flying colors. Some of our brave crusaders are Esther Albanese, Lou Huntley, Ralph Brownfield, Dick March, Betty Baker, Nelda Cramer, Edith DeWalt.

For Men Only

(Richard Campbell)

Hurry, hurry, get yourself a gentle creature, (better known as a woman), and be present at the Hi-Y formal dance at the State Armory to hear Jack Merlin and his orchestra play from 9:00 to 1:00. (A gala time is promised to all who go.)

Also, how about seeing Claude Nist and Jim Marth about your flowers before you forget it. They have a job to do, and you can help them if you'll order your flowers now.

Science Club Announces Election Of Officers

The election of Science Club officers took place on Thursday, March 18. Ruth Rogers was elected president, and Carolyn Eicher secretary. At that same time several reports were given. Doris Overholt reported on advances in science in 1942, Alice Fausold discussed vitamins, and Ruth Rogers gave interesting information on the work being done with the new electron microscope. At another meeting on April 8, Betty Shirer discussed the science of electronics, and Lois Yake told about people who are known as bleeders.

Because of the late date of getting organized, no projects are being started. Instead, there will be reports made at each meeting on the advances of science.

Junior Rummage Sale Canceled

(By Patricia Horn)

The Rummage Sale that was to be held by the Junior Class, April 2, 3 was canceled due to the lack of cooperation by the Juniors.

The Junior Class needs money very badly as every Junior knows. At a recent class meeting a Rummage Sale was suggested and approved by the class. Time came for the sale—no Juniors!! We have to get money some way Juniors, so think it over. Give suggestions to President Long. Your ideas are as good as anyone elses.

TEACHERS MEETING

ized the results of these letters. Caroline Eicher assisted in the compilation of the summary, but was not able to be present at the meeting.

Most of the students expressed appreciation for what the school has done for them. Many expressed a desire for a gymnasium and auditorium, more sports, such as track and baseball, a debating team, vocational training, vocational guidance, and a specific period for extra-curricular activities. Many students favored extra-curricular activities, but did not think that one person should carry too many. They also thought the number of subjects a student carries should be determined by his ability, grades, and the number of extra-curricular activities in which he is participating.

After the summaries of these letters were given, a forum was held in which both students and teachers exp[illegible] opinion on the subjects mentioned. There was also discussion on poor lighting, study hall behavior, cheating and the lack of an honor system.

The discussion was concluded by a summarization by Betty Shirer, who was acting chairman of the student committee. Both students and teachers left the meeting enlightened on each other's viewpoints pertaining to school and school activities.
